Description

In this old-fashioned replica medicine cabinet award we have two working doors and miniature bottles that you can move around. Each bottle represents a different product. The research team that received this custom designed award has a keepsake to remember how they were part of the team that brought these lifesaving medicines to the world.

While you can't see it in this picture, each bottle has printed different logos and names. The back of the award has ample room for text and images. A Branded message can be printed on the door face. You can play with this award, just like the recipients did.
